6th Annual Conference on the
TREATMENT OF PERSONALITY DISORDERS:
Guidelines-based practice

Conference: Friday 9 November 2012
Workshop: Saturday 10 November 2012
9.30am – 4.00pm
Venue: McKinnon Building (Building 67)
UNIVERSITY OF WOLLONGONG

The Illawarra Health and Medical Research Institute, Wollongong University Clinical Psychology program, and NSW Health (Illawarra-Shoalhaven Local Health District and South East Sydney Local Health District) invite you to a one day conference on the treatment of personality disorder. The theme ‘Guidelines-based practice’ highlights the importance of the international development of clinical guidelines for the treatment of personality disorders. Most recently, the Australian NHMRC Clinical Guidelines for Borderline Personality Disorder have been developed in 2012. These will sit alongside other guidelines also recently developed - the Project Air Strategy Treatment Guidelines for Personality Disorders (2011) and more established recent international guidelines - the UK National Institute for Clinical Excellence (NICE) guidelines for the treatment of borderline personality disorder (2009) and antisocial personality disorder (2009). The context of the development of the guidelines fits within broader reconceptualisations of personality disorders, particularly in the light of revisions to diagnostic criteria in the American Psychiatric Association (DSM-5) and World Health Organisation (ICD-11) projects.

Consistent with the conference theme, the special keynote this year will be presented by Professor Roger Mulder on "Rethinking personality disorder diagnosis". With the current debates around the direction of revisions to diagnosis and how this influences future guidelines for treatment, this promises to be a timely and important presentation. Professor Mulder has a distinguished record of scientific and clinical contributions to understanding personality disorder. He is Chair of Psychiatry at the University of Otago, New Zealand, and is currently Editor of Personality and Mental Health.

Professor Mulder is also co-chair of the WHO Committee on Personality Disorders and a member of the ICD-11 Classification Committee for Personality Disorders. He is interested in the psychiatric aspects of medical illness, and the history and philosophy of psychiatry, particularly the classification of abnormal behaviour. He and has published over 150 articles and book chapters.

Professor Mulder will also present a workshop on Saturday on ‘Principles for the management of borderline personality disorder’ which will be followed in the afternoon by a Project Air Strategy workshop on ‘Personality disorder and complexity: understanding counter-transference and other relationship dilemmas’.
6th Annual Conference on the
TREATMENT OF PERSONALITY DISORDERS: Guidelines-based practice
Conference: Friday 9 November 2012 & Workshop: Saturday 10 November 2012

Registration: Registration, submission of abstracts, and accommodation (if required) are online. When you register please have your credit card handy so that you can complete the registration process. Below is information about registration and what you need to know when you go online to register.

Fees: There is a small registration fee to recover costs including catering. Early-bird rate is $85 for the Friday conference and $95 for the Saturday workshops (or $180 for both days) if paid by 19 October 2012, otherwise the standard conference fee is $95, and the workshop $105 ($200 for both days).

Registration and payment prior to the event is essential and is only accepted online at www.projectairstrategy.org.

Invitation for Brief Presentations and Posters: We invite brief presentations and posters to update on new innovations and treatment extensions within personality disorder services (e.g. model, structure, implementation, and evaluation), or presentations on research or another issue relevant to personality disorders. Presentations are informal and will be time limited to approximately 5-10 minutes. You will be informed prior to the conference about your presentation and the duration. Each group should nominate one person to be spokesperson.
